

From Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, Henry VIII, vol. 6: 1533, edited by James Gairdner. London: Her Majesty's Stationary Office, 1882, p. 230.

23 May [1533]
R.O.

525. JOHN TREGONWELL TO CROMWELL.

My lord of Canterbury gave sentence this day at 11 o'clock in the great cause of matrimony ; has declared it to be against the law of God, and has divorced the King from the noble lady Katharine. He has used himself in this matter very honorably, and all who have been sent hither on the King's behalf have acted diligently and towardly. Sentence shall be given for the King's second contract of matrimony before the Feast of Pentecost. The process is partly devised. 23 May.

Hol., p. 1. Add. : Of the Council. Endd.